

17. Mr Isaac - Public Administration - Computer Operator II

At first, I entered the industry

Mainly because the fringe benefits of a Government job is better

And the salary is good too

Also my friends highly recommended it

So I entered the industry

For working hours, my job requires working on shifts

Sometimes I need to work for seven hours, eight hours or even twelve hours

If there are something unexpected, like typhoon no.8 or black rainstorms

I also need to continue to work until all the signals are cancelled

So there is no specific working time

I need to work depending on different situations even there is a timetable

The requirement of this job is simple

You only need an IT certificate

To apply for the position

Basically, no training or experience is needed

Since the job tasks are not as difficult as I have imagined

What you need to do is keep learning new things during work to enhance your knowledge

The most challenging part is We need to work as a team

But there are times you are the only one available

There can be a lot of emergencies which you can't imagine

Or have never encountered

Then you have to deal with it by yourself

These are the challenging parts

Getting off work on time

Although I am a civil servant, there are also chances that I can't get off work on time

Sometimes I might need to work overtime for two hours

Being able to finish every task would give me a sense of achievement

If I am stressful

I usually try to relieve stress through exercising after work or during the holiday

Or watching a movie

Or talking with close friends

To make me feel relieved and happy

There are some influences on my life

Since I need to work on shifts

Sometimes I need to go to work very early

Sometimes you get to leave work when the others go to work

So I can't always meet with friends or even my family members

And if people can't get used to working on shifts

For example, sometimes we need to be on duty at night

It is possible that we find it difficult to get to sleep

Or even we can't fall asleep at home neither

There aren't many suggestions

If you like a job that does not require you to deal with people

Then there is no problem

If you are prepared to enter the industry

No matter you are working in my position or other positions

You need to be prepared to encounter new challenges every day
