

2. Henry CHAN- Logistics and Trading – Truck Driver

I am interested in driving

Working in the logistics industry allows me to drive to different places every day

When I do delivery

I can go to many places instead of staying in an office

I am not used to sitting in one place for eight hours every day

You will be given a list every morning

The locations may include Tsim Sha Tsui, New Territories, etc.

Then you need to decide and analyse where you should go first

To plan the most effective route and

Deliver the goods or other things to the clients in the fastest way

Without spending extra time

Studying is not quite necessary for this industry

The main duty is to read the delivery note and know how to go to the destination

However, you might meet some foreign clients in the industry

So it is necessary to learn more

In order to communicate with clients and

Earn more money

For the requirements, you need to be responsible, logical and analytical as well as responsive

Since you need to drive on different roads for a long time

You need to be patient and observant

To ensure that the other vehicles do not cut the wrong lines

Which would affect road safety

We always need to deliver the goods to the client at a specific time

The client may not be free after five o'clock and my schedule is very tight as well

Then you will need to think the time arrangement of that day

If there will be a traffic jam, which can be serious

It should be quick to go from Tsim Sha Tsui to Mongkok

But it may take one to two hours when there is a traffic jam
The subsequent schedules will be delayed
You will need to think which way to go
Whether it will be faster to take the alley
I hope to become a supervisor
So that I don't need to deliver myself
I will be managing a team
And responsible for stipulating a timetable for people to deliver goods to clients
This job won't affect my daily life
Since I don't need to bring the work to home
For example I don't need to think about tomorrow's work
I don't need to finish some projects at home
I can rest at home and
Have dinner with my family after work
