

3 Parents' Briefing Sessions

Schools may arrange briefing sessions for parents of NCS students to facilitate communication with parents. Such briefing sessions can introduce the life planning activities arranged for NCS students and to explain to parents their roles in assisting their children to develop their career aspirations. Through collecting the parents' opinions and soliciting their support, the briefing sessions can encourage parents to support their children's participation in the school's life planning activities and their future development.